FLASH UPDATE 20 MAY 2021

edition 2021/09

Dear <<First Name>> <<Last Name>>,

We are positive about the latest developments in our industry. Finally restrictions are being lifted. Not only in the Netherlands but also in other countries. Vaccinations and less Covid cases are going hand in hand.

BARIN remains vocal regarding uniform protocols all over the EU, and preferably beyond. We remain being vocal on the different 'colors', on the testing regimes, often with prohibitive cost. We continue to pledge that those being vaccinated can travel freely. In the various working groups in The Hague we make sure (y)our voice is being heard. Where necessary we share our opinion in the (social) media.

We plan to share more positive news during our upcoming webinar, with a superb line-up. Dick Benschop, Pieter Elbers, Frank Oostdam and Willie Walsh have confirmed their attendance, while McKinsey will provide supporting data. Your invite will be sent next week.

Enjoy reading this 9th Flash Update of 2021.

when only vaccinated once

According to yet unpublished rules by the European Commission, passengers traveling throughout Europe should also be able to travel with the Digital Green Certificate (DGC) even if only vaccinated once. This is very positive news, especially for the younger generations who will only be vaccinated twice after the Summer holidays. The Dutch Government will join a pilot on the DGC as of June 1 and the target is to have the Dutch version of the 'Corona-passport' rolled out no later than July 1st.

For a quick glance at the DGC see this link.

How to check negative test results?

Since the aim of airports in general is that passengers come to the airport with a negative test result (instead of being tested at the airport and possibly be tested positive), it is very important for airlines to make sure that they know that their passengers are indeed tested negative. How to properly check a negative test result?
