FLASH UPDATE 18 JANUARY 2022

edition 2022/01

Dear <<First Name>> <<Last Name>>,

We still wish you a healthy happy new year.
Its going to be a great one!

It's encouraging to see the appreciation we get from our Members and Preferred Partners, and from new ones, who want to join us. We welcome SAS and DNATA as a new member and a new Preferred Partner. More will be announced in a next Flash Update!

I once stated in the media that it sometimes feels that our industry is "overly targeted" by Covid restrictions. Unfortunately, another example came up 🤔.

While we are relaxing the quarantine rules in the Netherlands (no need anymore when you have been in contact with a contaminated person when vaccinated), the passenger from a.o. London or New York still has to go into quarantine, when arriving in Amsterdam. Mind you: A negative PCR test before departure, fully vaccinated and quarantine...

We keep you updated, as we expect changes soon!

(16.00 hrs), with our webinar on "Fit for 55", with Diederik Samson, Heike Luiten, Marcel de Nooijer and Carlo van de Weijer.

It's going to be a fine debate how to reach a climate neutral Europe by 2050.

Look forward to meeting you online. Register now (see below)!!

Take care and stay safe.

Quarantine lifted for people who only have been in contact with contaminated person

In the latest Corona-press conference Friday evening 14th January, the Dutch Cabinet announced that the current governing quarantine rule no longer needs to be adhered to for people having been in close contact with contaminated people when:

1. They have had a booster shot longer than 1 week ago
2. They have been tested positive within 8 weeks from being in contact with such person.

BARIN advocates at the Health Ministry that when this regime counts for people residing in The Netherlands, this should also count for people coming to The Netherlands. Hence, we strongly recommend to treat passengers coming from e.g. the USA or the United Kingdom in the same way.

Samson on Friday 21st January, 10:00 hrs

BARIN will once again organize a webinar; this time focussing on Fit for 55 and the mobility challenges we are facing. We are very happy that we have secured a fine line of speakers; Diederik Samson, Heike Luiten, Marcel de Nooijer and Carlo van de Weijer will give their opinions on where our industry is going from here in order to secure a zero emission future in 2050!

Scandinavian Airlines signs up as new BARIN member

We are very happy that Scandinavian Airlines is re-joining BARIN after a couple of years of absence. One of the founding airlines of Star Alliance has already been serving Amsterdam Airport Schiphol since decades and restarted operations in May 2021 since having suspended operations to Amsterdam due to the COVID pandemic.
